

1994

SØREN KIERKEGAARD

Fear and Trembling
The Book on Adler

Translated by Walter Lowrie

with an Introduction by George Steiner

EVERYMAN'S LIBRARY

C O N T E N T S

---

Introduction . . . . .	xi
Select Bibliography . . . . .	xxv
Chronology . . . . .	xxvi

FEAR AND TREMBLING

Preface . . . . .	3
Prelude . . . . .	6
A Panegyric upon Abraham . . . . .	11
Problemata: Preliminary Expectoration . . . . .	19
Problem I: Is there such a thing as a teleological suspension of the ethical? . . . . .	45
Problem II: Is there such a thing as an absolute duty toward God? . . . . .	58
Problem III: Was Abraham ethically defensible in keeping silent about his purpose before Sarah, before Eleazar, before Isaac? . . . . .	71
Epilogue . . . . .	108

ON AUTHORITY AND REVELATION: THE BOOK ON ADLER

Introduction . . . . .	113
Chapter I The Historical Situation . . . . .	127
Chapter II The So-Called Fact of Revelation . . . . .	160
Chapter III Adler Does Not Himself Believe He Has Had a Revelation
1 Documents concerning his deposition . . . . .	170
2 Adler's four last books . . . . .	190
Supplement. Recapitulation . . . . .	231

KIERKEGAARD

Chapter IV Psychological View of Adler as a Phenomenon or as a Satire upon the Hegelian Philosophy and upon the Present Age
1 Psychological exposition	234
2 The catastrophe in Magister Adler's life	239
3 Magister Adler's advantage	243
4 The fundamental fault in Magister Adler	250
5 Magister Adler as an epigram upon Christendom of our day	264
Postscript	275
Appendix
Translator's Notes to Fear and Trembling	283
S.K.'s Prefaces to The Book on Adler	292