

Contemporary Issues in Financial Reporting

A user-oriented approach

Paul Rosenfield

Contents

List of figures	xiv
List of tables	xv
Foreword	xvi
Preface	xviii
Acknowledgments	xxii
Note on assignments	xxiii
 Prologue: thinking independently	 1
 PART I
Setting the stage	25
 1 The nature of financial reporting	27
Issuers and users	27
Functions of records and reports	28
Financial reporting as mapping	32
Venture reporting versus time period reporting	33
Financial accounting versus financial reporting	35
Functions of bookkeeping, accounting, and financial reporting	37
Financial statements versus economics	39
Financial reporting versus financial analysis	39
Financial reporting versus income tax accounting	40
A science or an art?	41
Discussion questions	41
 2 The incentives of the parties to financial reporting	43
Positive and normative research	44
Conflicting incentives	46
Incentives of users	47

Incentives of issuers	48
Incentives of outside auditors	66
Incentives of citizens	70
Incentives of standard-setters and regulators	70
Incentives of elected government officials	71
Incentives of teachers of financial reporting	73
Discussion questions	74
3 Designing financial statements by starting with desired results or by applying analysis for the benefit of the users	75
Starting with desired results in designing financial statements	76
Applying analysis for the benefit of the users in designing financial statements	83
Discussion questions	104
Appendix A: classes of events	104
Appendix B: current GAAP by classes of events	106
4 The indoctrination of financial reporters	118
Origin of the indoctrination of financial reporters	119
Manifestations of the indoctrination of financial reporters	121
Virginia and financial reporting	130
Discussion questions	131
PART II
Issues underlying financial reporting	133
5 Views on the desirability of stabilizing income reporting by the design of GAAP	135
Views of official organizations	135
Reasons that have been given in favor of stabilizing income reporting by the design of GAAP	138
Reasons that have been given in opposition to stabilizing income reporting by the design of GAAP	142
Conclusion on the desirability of stabilizing income reporting by the design of GAAP	144
Lip service	146
Debating points	146

6 Measurement in the preparation of financial statements	147
Measurement, observation, quantification, and calculation	147
Time of measurement	149
Measurable attributes and units of measure	152
Defining the unit of measure in terms of the powers of money	152
Surrogate measures	154
Measurement and calculation in financial statements	155
Measurement and estimation in financial statements	156
Debating points	157
7 Historical report	159
Pertinent characteristics of time	160
Reflecting in financial statements the financial effects of supposed future events	167
Reflecting in financial statements current conditions that indirectly involve the future	172
Reflecting in financial statements the financial effects of events that might have occurred but didn't	178
Going concern	180
Debating points	181
8 The focus of attention in financial reporting	183
A handy fiction?	183
Selection of the reporting entity as classification	184
The original focus of attention	184
The incomplete evolution of the concept of the focus of attention	185
Theories about the reporting entity	185
A complete evolution of the concept of the focus of attention	190
Debating points	200
9 The elements of the reporting entity represented in financial statements	201
Economic resources	202
Articulation	203
Definitions of the elements	204
Accrual basis	215
Nonarticulation	218
Debating points	222

PART III

Broad issues in financial reporting 223

10 The current broad principles 225

Statement of the current broad principles 228

Evaluation of the current broad principles 238

Conformity of the current broad principles with the incentives of the issuers, outside auditors, standard-setters, and regulators 249

Financial reporting as ritual 255

Debating points 258

11 Inflation reporting 260

Defining the unit of measure in terms of general purchasing power 261

Inflation reporting and current value reporting 271

Inflation reporting and reporting on foreign operations 272

Debating points 272

12 Presenting discounted future cash receipts and payments in financial statements 273

The "ideal basis" 274

The existence of present value 275

The parentage of the concept 276

The magic of discounting 280

The reversal of cause and effect 281

Presenting solely the financial effects of supposed future events 282

Nonexistent future events 282

Conclusion on whether present value is a current condition of the reporting entity 283

Appendix: the ultimate form of allocation 284

Debating points 285

13 Proposed broad principles for reporting on assets using current buying prices 286

Current buying prices 286

Presenting fiction 289

Using the price of an asset not owned or sold 293

Deprival value 297

Supplementary information on current buying prices 298

Debating points 299

14	Proposed broad principles for reporting on assets using current selling prices	300
	The only current measurable financial attribute	301
	Class A and Class B aspects	304
	Reporting the Class A aspect and disclosing information concerning the Class B aspect	305
	CSPR and the user-oriented criteria	308
	Evidence for the measurement of current selling prices	311
	CSPR and stable income reporting—the foremost objection to CSPR	314
	Foremost conceptual objections to CSPR	315
	Other conceptual objections to CSPR	319
	Other practical objections to CSPR	325
	Wishful thinking	328
	Quiet appeal	328
	Debating points	333
15	Current and proposed broad principles for reporting on liabilities	334
	Events causing a liability to be incurred	335
	Names of payments required	336
	Events causing a liability to be discharged	336
	Current broad principle for reporting on a liability	337
	Proposed broad principles for reporting on a liability	340
	Debating points	350
16	Reflecting or reporting prospects in financial statements	351
	Reflecting prospects in financial statements	353
	Reporting prospects in financial statements	355
	Conclusion on reflecting or reporting prospects in financial statements	362
	Debating points	362
17	Disclosure in financial reporting	363
	A tangle of trees	364
	Information to help users evaluate current prospects	365
	Investments in prospects	366
	Supplementary information	366
	Disclosure overload	373

Reporting in the financial statements versus disclosure in the notes	379
Debating points	379

PART IV

Specific issues in financial reporting	381
---	-----

18 Reporting in connection with stock options granted to employees	383
---	-----

Round one 383

Round two 397

Debating points 398

19 Alternative financial statement reporting practices	399
---	-----

Standard-setting and alternatives 399

Power to reduce alternatives 400

Alternatives reduced 401

Alternatives not reduced—notorious cases 402

Alternatives not reduced—other significant areas 406

The users yawn 409

Debating points 410

20 Display on financial statements	411
---	-----

Display on the balance sheet 411

Display on the statement of income 419

Display on the statement of cash flows 420

Debating points 421

21 Reporting on income taxes	422
-------------------------------------	-----

Deferred taxes 424

Comprehensive interperiod income tax allocation 426

The rationale 427

The analysis 428

Net-of-tax 441

Earnings management 441

Debating points 441

22 Reporting on foreign operations	443
---	-----

Four sets of translation rules 443

Catch-22 450

Accounting for foreign operation	451
Reporting on foreign operations and inflation reporting	455
Debating points	457
23 Reporting after business combinations and on related goodwill	458
Requirements before the battle	458
The battle	461
Results of reporting after business combinations in conformity with
Opinions Nos 16 and 17	466
The new requirements	467
Reporting after business combinations to conform with the user-oriented criteria	468
Debating points	471
24 Reporting on employee benefits	472
Reporting on defined benefit pensions	472
Postretirement benefits other than pensions	484
Advance funding	487
Earnings management	487
Debating points	487
25 Reporting on leases and executory contracts	489
Capitalize all active noncancelable leases?	489
Definition of an executory contract	491
Capitalize all executory contracts?	492
Are active leases executory contracts?	493
Reporting on leases	494
Debating points	498
26 Consolidated financial statements	499
Should consolidated financial statements be presented?	500
Consolidation policy	501
A fictitious reporting entity?	503
Treatment of noncontrolling stockholdings	503
Debating points	506
Epilogue: the hijacking of GAAP	507
Appendix	513
Bibliography	517
Author index	546
Subject index	552