

333.91
VAL
1989

International Conference on the Sea of Japan

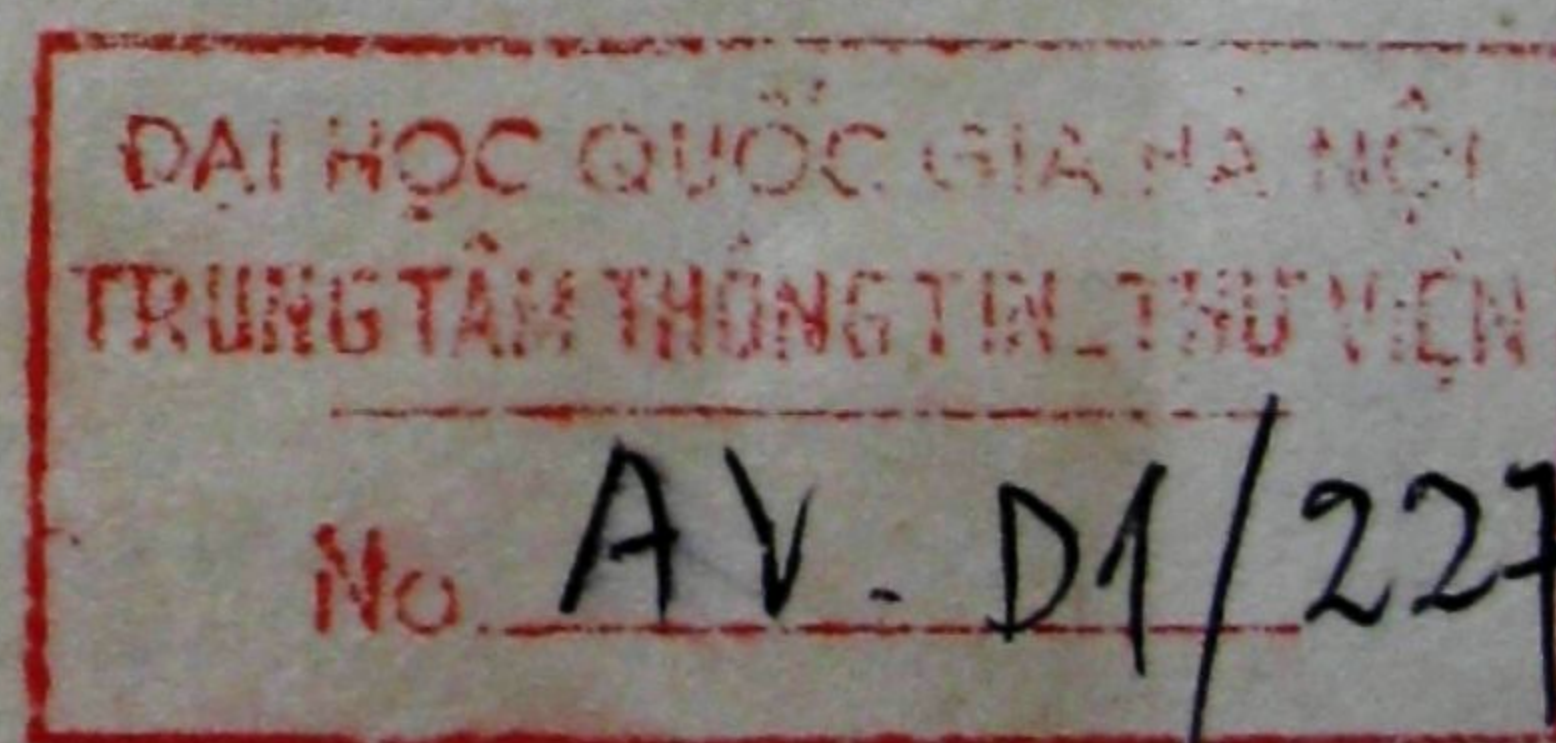

Transnational Ocean
Resource Management Issues and Options for Cooperation

by

Mark J. Valencia

Editor/Author

A report of the conference held at the Hotel Niigata,
Niigata, Japan, 11–14 October 1988.

East–West Environment and Policy Institute
Occasional Paper No. 10

1989

CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables	v
Foreword	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
1. Introduction	1
2. The Natural Setting	7
Geomorphology and General Geology	7
Physical Oceanography	11
Ecology	22
Valuable and Vulnerable Environmental Resources	27
3. Fisheries	43
Introduction	43
National Fishery Profiles	47
Status of the Stocks	53
National Policies and Regulations	68
Transnational Issues and Possible Cooperative Responses	75
4. Petroleum and Minerals	95
Petroleum Geology	95
National Policies, Laws, and Regulations	104
Cooperative Transnational Petroleum Resource Management	112
Transnational Issues	116
5. Trade and Shipping	123
Trade	123
Shipping Volume	136
Port Traffic Analysis	140
National Policies	141
Transnational Issues and Possible Cooperative Responses	143
International Conventions	144
Jurisdictional Issues	148
Mechanisms to Protect and Preserve the Marine Environment	152
Possible Mechanisms of Cooperation	153

6. Environment	157
Pollution	157
Responses	161
National Policies, Regional Issues, and Possible Cooperative Responses	168
7. Conclusions.....	193
Proposals for Further Action and Research	193
Geology/Geophysics	193
Fisheries	194
Shipping	199
Environment	201
General	201
Summary	203
Appendices	207
A. Agenda	209
B. List of Participants	215
C. List of Papers	223
References	227