

S. 67
AGI
1988

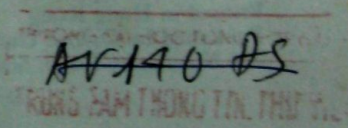

AGING AND POLITICAL LEADERSHIP

Edited by
Angus McIntyre

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Melbourne
Oxford Auckland New York

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgments	viii
Introduction: the psychology of later life and the politics of aging leaders Angus McIntyre	1
PART I EARLY ADULTHOOD AND MIDDLE AGE
1 Mentoring in political life: the case of Willy Brandt Barbara Kellerman	19
2 The aging narcissistic leader: the case of Sir Oswald Mosley at mid-life Angus McIntyre	44
3 Age, ambitions, and political careers: the middle-age crisis Paul L. Hain	64
4 A case of mistaken identity: Djugashvili-Stalin Robert C. Tucker	78
PART II OLD AGE
5 Age and leadership: cross-cultural observations David Gutmann	89
6 Menachem Begin: the aging leader and his boys David Gutmann	102
7 Precipitate politics in the face of death: the case of Henry Parkes Angus McIntyre	111
8 Mao Zedong and the dilemma of revolutionary gerontocracy Lowell Dittmer	157
9 Visions of rebirth: the spiritualist facet of Peru's Haya de la Torre Frederick B. Pike	181
10 The Daedalus experience: a developmental vicissitude of the grandiose fantasy Marian Tolpin	220

PART III A CONTEMPORARY CASE: RONALD REAGAN

11 The L-shaped mind of Ronald Reagan
Norman N. Holland	243
12 Ronald Reagan's Dorian Gray complex
Graham Little	260
Conclusion
Angus McIntyre	283
List of contributors	305
Index	308